(*) Each number represents a class of two hours.

Total of classes: twenty-six (26), divided into twenty-four (24) theoretical classes and two (2) classes focused on the respective Module review. Examination of the topics covered in each Module will be done through two written tests (one after each Module) with different activities aimed at both: recognition and production.

AIMS: This Legal English course is divided into two Modules dealing with The Legal Systems, and Legal Drafting and Contract Law. The first one being aimed at understanding the basics of the Anglo-Saxon Legal System through the study of its main characteristics, and by having a brief overview of both British and American Courts and how they set precedents. Also, for students to familiarise with the equivalent English names of the parties that take part in the civil procedure and the different legal rules. Also, to provide students with a brief overview of the British Civil Procedure. Module two is focused on understanding the basics of legal drafting and the terms related to Contract Law. It is also aimed at students' understanding and grasping of the different terms and most common clauses included in contracts, with focus on their drafting.

At the end of the course students will be able to comprehend how the Anglo-Saxon Legal System works, and to understand the characteristics of the Legal English writing, which will enable them to recognise legal texts in English and to understand their general meaning, with special emphasis on contracts clauses' comprehension and drafting.
